

THE ARIZONA REPUBLICAN

FOR SALE—New 4-room brick, modern, $2250, near school and car line, $250 cash, balance $25.00 per month. E. E. Pascoe, owner, 118 North Center street.

TWENTY-SECOND YEAR

16 PAGES

PHOENIX, ARIZONA, WEDNESDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 8, 1911.

16 PAGES

VOL. XXII. NO. 172.

ALL ELKDOM TURNED OUT TO ATTEND THE BIG FAIR

The "Hello Bill" Crowd Was Very Much in Evidence and of Course There Was Something Doing All the Time.

ENORMOUS CROWD TOOK IN SIGHTS

Aside From the Elks the Harness Events Were the Main Attraction and These Were All That Could Be Desired.

The attendance at the fair yesterday was much greater than that of the day before. Notwithstanding there was no particularly startling harness event the big crowd was interested every minute, with a kaleidoscopic program of mixed events. It was Elks' day and right royally did the antlered visitors furnish merriment for the entire assemblage. Aside from the Elks the two most novel and entertaining features were the chariot race and the parade of the Sixth cavalry squadron and regimental band. The Elks program began with a monster parade, the largest demonstration ever made in Arizona by any fraternal organization. Then came a long array of comedy and racing events on the inside track under the direction of C. K. Pishon that were alternated with the program numbers on the big track. It was one grand afternoon of miscellaneous joy.

The program began with a parade of exhibition live stock, around the inner track. The harness races soon began, with the Cavalry band making merry music from the stand, while the Elks were assembling behind the stand in their respective delegations. At the proper time they crossed to the inner track marching in four columns, almost circled it and then counter-marched back. Beside the straggling Elks in line at the most convenient places there were eight big companies assembled by delegations with Phoenix No. 335 and the Indian band leading, and that delegation alone looked like an army. The others in order, each bearing a banner with its name and number placarded, were: Middletown, N. Y. No. 1097; Los Angeles No. 99, a big company; Prescott 330, ditto; Central City 557; Bisbee 671; Tucson 385, led by a hardy Yuma 475, including a lot of "Elkesses"; Globe 489, carrying Japanese parasols and vociferous with a hooster yell; the parade concluding with the visiting excursionists from San Diego, both men and women, accompanied by their own orchestra and their friendly songs. After the counter march the entire parade lined up in front of the grandstand for review and was given a rousing cheer.

The chariot race was a thriller and was won by Dr. Sinaud of Pueblo who drove a team of three sorrels and a black, in a blue harness, drawing a blue chariot, himself in a costume of blue. The black horse is the famous Chimney Sweep with a record of 1:38. E. J. Levensgood of Pomona was equipped with a team of four prancing sorrels and was picked for the winner by a majority of the grandstand, his restless steeds looking as though they would not submit to a defeat. They were in red harness, drawing a red chariot, the driver being attired also in red. But the doctor got the pole in the drawing and kept it. There was never a chance for the other man to pass him though both teams ran furiously and whizzed by the turns on the little track which they twice circled, with almost reckless daring. The race was won in 1:53.

There were two exciting fine running races, one being the Elks Derby for a purse of $300. It was a mile run on the big mile track and the start was made with a field of horses. The race was won in 1:41 1/4 by Cameo, Parker jockey. Ionia was second, Little Jane third. The horses were well bunched on the back stretch and for a time it was anybody's money, but six of them could not get inside of it at all.

The other race was a three quarter mile run for $200. It also had a field of nine starters and was won by Prince Winters, Parker jockey, in 1:46 1/2. Sohado was second, Myrtle Queen third.

Late in the afternoon the dress parade of the Sixth cavalry squadron, occurred on the inner field. The four troops of soldiers on bay horses, drilling maneuvering like machine work, with sabers flashing in the sunlight, and following the bugle calls and the martial music of the regimental band which was mounted on white chargers, made an inspiring spectacle. The squadron was under the command of Major Heard who may well feel proud of the gallant lads who respond so beautifully to the orders of himself and his officers.

Other features of the day were a race between two girls on horseback,

POLICE CHIEF PAID FOR FALSE ARREST

Damage Suit at San Francisco Involving $25,000 Has Been Settled Out of Court.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7.—A suit for $25,000 brought against former Chief of Police J. B. Martin by Howard Cooley, a sailor, who was held seventeen days by the police under Martin, was dismissed today in the United States circuit court, Martin having made a cash settlement out of court. Cooley was arrested on the identification by an unidentified man that he was wanted at Chehalis, Washington, as an accomplice of Wm. Gohl, charged with having murdered sailors for their money. Cooley proved innocence and brought suit, claiming that he was held all that time without being charged with any particular offense.

DRIVER IS ARRESTED.

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 7.—Harry B. Holmholz, an oil operator, was arrested under the new law and charged with manslaughter for running over Henry Ross in an automobile and not stopping to offer aid. Ross died later.

BANK HAS SHORTAGE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7.—It became known tonight that a shortage of $3,500 exists in the accounts of the Wells Fargo National bank here. Officials of the company denied reports that a larger amount is missing. The shortage was found after an investigation lasting several days. It is understood the bank is fully protected and there will be no prosecution.

CRUISER WILL STAY.

SEATTLE, Nov. 7.—The navy department has decided to revoke the order recently issued to send the cruiser New Orleans to the Puget Sound navy yard for extensive repairs, according to unofficial advice received here today. The New Orleans is now on the China station. It is understood the gravity of the situation there makes it necessary to keep the cruiser in Oriental waters.

THEY HAVE ARRIVED.

ROME, Nov. 7.—American Ambassador to Italy Thomas J. O'Brien, accompanied by Mrs. O'Brien, arrived here today.

CLAIMS A VICTORY.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 7.—The war office does not claim Berna is occupied, but it does claim a great victory in the battle there in which 500 Italians were killed and many guns and much ammunition captured.

TOUGH ON THE "JUDGE."

MERIDIAN, Miss., Nov. 7.—"Judge" Mosely, colored, was taken from jail by a mob of four hundred and lynched today. Mosely hit a white man with a stick.

HIGH SCHOOL BURNS.

MADISONVILLE, Tex., Nov. 7.—The Madison county high school building at Madisonville was discovered to be on fire this morning at 7 o'clock, and on account of there being no water close by and no waterworks in the town it was impossible to check the fire and the school was burned to the ground. It will put the trustees to a good bit of inconvenience in securing places to continue the school, but the intentions are to use the different church houses for different grades until the new $18,000 brick school building is complete, which will be about Jan. 1.

MADISONVILLE HOUSE BURNED.

MADISONVILLE, Texas, Nov. 7.—A Knight's residence caught fire and the house with entire contents was burned to the ground. There was no one at home when the fire started, and the house was almost burned down when the fire was discovered. Value about $1,100, insurance $800. Mr. Knight will lose about $300 by the fire.

FIRE AT LONGVIEW.

LONGVIEW, Texas, Nov. 7.—There was a destructive fire here this morning in the yards of the Texas & Pacific railroad. Six loaded freight cars are a total loss and six others were badly damaged. The loaded cars contained respectively paint, hay, cotton, coal, paper and merchandise.

FERRIS IS RED CROSS DELEGATE.

AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 7.—Royal A. Ferris of Dallas has been appointed by the governor as delegate to the Red Cross convention in Washington, Dec. 5. Alex. Sanger of Dallas was named alternate.

TORPEDO FLEET HAS ABANDONED CRUISE

Little Fighters Will Hug the Pacific Coast During Expected Season of Bad Weather.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Owing to the lateness of the season and the probability of stormy weather the cruise of the first and second divisions of the Pacific torpedo fleet to Hawaii has been abandoned and the little vessels will remain on the west coast for drill exercises. The Hawaiians, however, will not be deprived of naval representation, as the Pacific fleet of armored cruisers after leaving San Diego November 16, will make a short stop at San Francisco and then proceed to Hawaii for a winter cruise in inland waters. It is said there will be some interesting landing drills and other exercises in connection with the army posts intended to develop the strength or weakness of the coast defense system of the islands.

GOMPERS HAS FORMED PLAN

Head of American Federation Gives His Views on subject of Proposed Compulsory Compensation Law

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, was today a witness before the employers' liability and workmen's compensation commission. He gave a general endorsement of the plan for compensating employees of the interstate roads for injuries with perhaps one exception. A democratic congressman was elected in the Second Kansas district to fill the place of Representative Mitchell, republican, deceased. In Kentucky James B. McCreery, democrat, is elected governor by a large majority. A democratic legislature also is assured, which assures the choice of Congressman Ollie James as United States senator. The first election held in the new state of New Mexico is still in doubt. Both democratic and republican candidates are claiming the victory on meager returns. Indications point to a republican legislature, which will elect United States senators. New Jersey elected a legislature which will continue to support Governor Woodrow Wilson, democrat, but the legislative majorities are still in doubt. Early returns from the state election in Maryland are inconclusive as between Arthur P. Gorman, democrat, and Philip L. Goldsborough, republican. Mississippi elected a democratic governor and legislature by large majorities. Early returns from Rhode Island indicate it has re-elected Governor Pothier, republican, over Louis A. Waterman, democrat, by increased majorities.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—The difficulties likely to be encountered in the administration of the proposed workmen's compensation law were emphasized today when President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, took issue with members of the employers' liability and workmen's compensation commission regarding the awarding of a trial to be created. In the main he endorsed the commission's plan for insuring railroad employees against accident but when he took up the question of administration he advanced the theory that did not meet the approval of some members of the commission. He insisted that the tribunal consist of three members, one representing the employees, one the employers and the third to be a physician of standing chosen by the other two. The commission has not formulated a provision governing this important part of the law but Senator Sutherland and Representative Moon indicate a leaning toward the selection of award boards by the federal courts. Sutherland pointed out the Gompers plan would be in effect a system of arbitration and said the third man on the board would be the arbitrator, while the other two would be merely attorneys for the opposing sides.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—The difficulties likely to be encountered in the administration of the proposed workmen's compensation law were emphasized today when President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, took issue with members of the employers' liability and workmen's compensation commission regarding the awarding of a trial to be created. In the main he endorsed the commission's plan for insuring railroad employees against accident but when he took up the question of administration he advanced the theory that did not meet the approval of some members of the commission. He insisted that the tribunal consist of three members, one representing the employees, one the employers and the third to be a physician of standing chosen by the other two. The commission has not formulated a provision governing this important part of the law but Senator Sutherland and Representative Moon indicate a leaning toward the selection of award boards by the federal courts. Sutherland pointed out the Gompers plan would be in effect a system of arbitration and said the third man on the board would be the arbitrator, while the other two would be merely attorneys for the opposing sides.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—The difficulties likely to be encountered in the administration of the proposed workmen's compensation law were emphasized today when President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, took issue with members of the employers' liability and workmen's compensation commission regarding the awarding of a trial to be created. In the main he endorsed the commission's plan for insuring railroad employees against accident but when he took up the question of administration he advanced the theory that did not meet the approval of some members of the commission. He insisted that the tribunal consist of three members, one representing the employees, one the employers and the third to be a physician of standing chosen by the other two. The commission has not formulated a provision governing this important part of the law but Senator Sutherland and Representative Moon indicate a leaning toward the selection of award boards by the federal courts. Sutherland pointed out the Gompers plan would be in effect a system of arbitration and said the third man on the board would be the arbitrator, while the other two would be merely attorneys for the opposing sides.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—The difficulties likely to be encountered in the administration of the proposed workmen's compensation law were emphasized today when President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, took issue with members of the employers' liability and workmen's compensation commission regarding the awarding of a trial to be created. In the main he endorsed the commission's plan for insuring railroad employees against accident but when he took up the question of administration he advanced the theory that did not meet the approval of some members of the commission. He insisted that the tribunal consist of three members, one representing the employees, one the employers and the third to be a physician of standing chosen by the other two. The commission has not formulated a provision governing this important part of the law but Senator Sutherland and Representative Moon indicate a leaning toward the selection of award boards by the federal courts. Sutherland pointed out the Gompers plan would be in effect a system of arbitration and said the third man on the board would be the arbitrator, while the other two would be merely attorneys for the opposing sides.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—The difficulties likely to be encountered in the administration of the proposed workmen's compensation law were emphasized today when President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, took issue with members of the employers' liability and workmen's compensation commission regarding the awarding of a trial to be created. In the main he endorsed the commission's plan for insuring railroad employees against accident but when he took up the question of administration he advanced the theory that did not meet the approval of some members of the commission. He insisted that the tribunal consist of three members, one representing the employees, one the employers and the third to be a physician of standing chosen by the other two. The commission has not formulated a provision governing this important part of the law but Senator Sutherland and Representative Moon indicate a leaning toward the selection of award boards by the federal courts. Sutherland pointed out the Gompers plan would be in effect a system of arbitration and said the third man on the board would be the arbitrator, while the other two would be merely attorneys for the opposing sides.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—The difficulties likely to be encountered in the administration of the proposed workmen's compensation law were emphasized today when President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, took issue with members of the employers' liability and workmen's compensation commission regarding the awarding of a trial to be created. In the main he endorsed the commission's plan for insuring railroad employees against accident but when he took up the question of administration he advanced the theory that did not meet the approval of some members of the commission. He insisted that the tribunal consist of three members, one representing the employees, one the employers and the third to be a physician of standing chosen by the other two. The commission has not formulated a provision governing this important part of the law but Senator Sutherland and Representative Moon indicate a leaning toward the selection of award boards by the federal courts. Sutherland pointed out the Gompers plan would be in effect a system of arbitration and said the third man on the board would be the arbitrator, while the other two would be merely attorneys for the opposing sides.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—The difficulties likely to be encountered in the administration of the proposed workmen's compensation law were emphasized today when President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, took issue with members of the employers' liability and workmen's compensation commission regarding the awarding of a trial to be created. In the main he endorsed the commission's plan for insuring railroad employees against accident but when he took up the question of administration he advanced the theory that did not meet the approval of some members of the commission. He insisted that the tribunal consist of three members, one representing the employees, one the employers and the third to be a physician of standing chosen by the other two. The commission has not formulated a provision governing this important part of the law but Senator Sutherland and Representative Moon indicate a leaning toward the selection of award boards by the federal courts. Sutherland pointed out the Gompers plan would be in effect a system of arbitration and said the third man on the board would be the arbitrator, while the other two would be merely attorneys for the opposing sides.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—The difficulties likely to be encountered in the administration of the proposed workmen's compensation law were emphasized today when President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, took issue with members of the employers' liability and workmen's compensation commission regarding the awarding of a trial to be created. In the main he endorsed the commission's plan for insuring railroad employees against accident but when he took up the question of administration he advanced the theory that did not meet the approval of some members of the commission. He insisted that the tribunal consist of three members, one representing the employees, one the employers and the third to be a physician of standing chosen by the other two. The commission has not formulated a provision governing this important part of the law but Senator Sutherland and Representative Moon indicate a leaning toward the selection of award boards by the federal courts. Sutherland pointed out the Gompers plan would be in effect a system of arbitration and said the third man on the board would be the arbitrator, while the other two would be merely attorneys for the opposing sides.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—The difficulties likely to be encountered in the administration of the proposed workmen's compensation law were emphasized today when President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, took issue with members of the employers' liability and workmen's compensation commission regarding the awarding of a trial to be created. In the main he endorsed the commission's plan for insuring railroad employees against accident but when he took up the question of administration he advanced the theory that did not meet the approval of some members of the commission. He insisted that the tribunal consist of three members, one representing the employees, one the employers and the third to be a physician of standing chosen by the other two. The commission has not formulated a provision governing this important part of the law but Senator Sutherland and Representative Moon indicate a leaning toward the selection of award boards by the federal courts. Sutherland pointed out the Gompers plan would be in effect a system of arbitration and said the third man on the board would be the arbitrator, while the other two would be merely attorneys for the opposing sides.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—The difficulties likely to be encountered in the administration of the proposed workmen's compensation law were emphasized today when President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, took issue with members of the employers' liability and workmen's compensation commission regarding the awarding of a trial to be created. In the main he endorsed the commission's plan for insuring railroad employees against accident but when he took up the question of administration he advanced the theory that did not meet the approval of some members of the commission. He insisted that the tribunal consist of three members, one representing the employees, one the employers and the third to be a physician of standing chosen by the other two. The commission has not formulated a provision governing this important part of the law but Senator Sutherland and Representative Moon indicate a leaning toward the selection of award boards by the federal courts. Sutherland pointed out the Gompers plan would be in effect a system of arbitration and said the third man on the board would be the arbitrator, while the other two would be merely attorneys for the opposing sides.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—The difficulties likely to be encountered in the administration of the proposed workmen's compensation law were emphasized today when President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, took issue with members of the employers' liability and workmen's compensation commission regarding the awarding of a trial to be created. In the main he endorsed the commission's plan for insuring railroad employees against accident but when he took up the question of administration he advanced the theory that did not meet the approval of some members of the commission. He insisted that the tribunal consist of three members, one representing the employees, one the employers and the third to be a physician of standing chosen by the other two. The commission has not formulated a provision governing this important part of the law but Senator Sutherland and Representative Moon indicate a leaning toward the selection of award boards by the federal courts. Sutherland pointed out the Gompers plan would be in effect a system of arbitration and said the third man on the board would be the arbitrator, while the other two would be merely attorneys for the opposing sides.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—The difficulties likely to be encountered in the administration of the proposed workmen's compensation law were emphasized today when President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, took issue with members of the employers' liability and workmen's compensation commission regarding the awarding of a trial to be created. In the main he endorsed the commission's plan for insuring railroad employees against accident but when he took up the question of administration he advanced the theory that did not meet the approval of some members of the commission. He insisted that the tribunal consist of three members, one representing the employees, one the employers and the third to be a physician of standing chosen by the other two. The commission has not formulated a provision governing this important part of the law but Senator Sutherland and Representative Moon indicate a leaning toward the selection of award boards by the federal courts. Sutherland pointed out the Gompers plan would be in effect a system of arbitration and said the third man on the board would be the arbitrator, while the other two would be merely attorneys for the opposing sides.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—The difficulties likely to be encountered in the administration of the proposed workmen's compensation law were emphasized today when President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, took issue with members of the employers' liability and workmen's compensation commission regarding the awarding of a trial to be created. In the main he endorsed the commission's plan for insuring railroad employees against accident but when he took up the question of administration he advanced the theory that did not meet the approval of some members of the commission. He insisted that the tribunal consist of three members, one representing the employees, one the employers and the third to be a physician of standing chosen by the other two. The commission has not formulated a provision governing this important part of the law but Senator Sutherland and Representative Moon indicate a leaning toward the selection of award boards by the federal courts. Sutherland pointed out the Gompers plan would be in effect a system of arbitration and said the third man on the board would be the arbitrator, while the other two would be merely attorneys for the opposing sides.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—The difficulties likely to be encountered in the administration of the proposed workmen's compensation law were emphasized today when President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, took issue with members of the employers' liability and workmen's compensation commission regarding the awarding of a trial to be created. In the main he endorsed the commission's plan for insuring railroad employees against accident but when he took up the question of administration he advanced the theory that did not meet the approval of some members of the commission. He insisted that the tribunal consist of three members, one representing the employees, one the employers and the third to be a physician of standing chosen by the other two. The commission has not formulated a provision governing this important part of the law but Senator Sutherland and Representative Moon indicate a leaning toward the selection of award boards by the federal courts. Sutherland pointed out the Gompers plan would be in effect a system of arbitration and said the third man on the board would be the arbitrator, while the other two would be merely attorneys for the opposing sides.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—The difficulties likely to be encountered in the administration of the proposed workmen's compensation law were emphasized today when President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, took issue with members of the employers' liability and workmen's compensation commission regarding the awarding of a trial to be created. In the main he endorsed the commission's plan for insuring railroad employees against accident but when he took up the question of administration he advanced the theory that did not meet the approval of some members of the commission. He insisted that the tribunal consist of three members, one representing the employees, one the employers and the third to be a physician of standing chosen by the other two. The commission has not formulated a provision governing this important part of the law but Senator Sutherland and Representative Moon indicate a leaning toward the selection of award boards by the federal courts. Sutherland pointed out the Gompers plan would be in effect a system of arbitration and said the third man on the board would be the arbitrator, while the other two would be merely attorneys for the opposing sides.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—The difficulties likely to be encountered in the administration of the proposed workmen's compensation law were emphasized today when President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, took issue with members of the employers' liability and workmen's compensation commission regarding the awarding of a trial to be created. In the main he endorsed the commission's plan for insuring railroad employees against accident but when he took up the question of administration he advanced the theory that did not meet the approval of some members of the commission. He insisted that the tribunal consist of three members, one representing the employees, one the employers and the third to be a physician of standing chosen by the other two. The commission has not formulated a provision governing this important part of the law but Senator Sutherland and Representative Moon indicate a leaning toward the selection of award boards by the federal courts. Sutherland pointed out the Gompers plan would be in effect a system of arbitration and said the third man on the board would be the arbitrator, while the other two would be merely attorneys for the opposing sides.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—The difficulties likely to be encountered in the administration of the proposed workmen's compensation law were emphasized today when President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, took issue with members of the employers' liability and workmen's compensation commission regarding the awarding of a trial to be created. In the main he endorsed the commission's plan for insuring railroad employees against accident but when he took up the question of administration he advanced the theory that did not meet the approval of some members of the commission. He insisted that the tribunal consist of three members, one representing the employees, one the employers and the third to be a physician of standing chosen by the other two. The commission has not formulated a provision governing this important part of the law but Senator Sutherland and Representative Moon indicate a leaning toward the selection of award boards by the federal courts. Sutherland pointed out the Gompers plan would be in effect a system of arbitration and said the third man on the board would be the arbitrator, while the other two would be merely attorneys for the opposing sides.

HONORS SEEM ABOUT EVEN

But the Republicans Win Substantial Advantages in Many Places in the Elections Which Were Held Yesterday.

WOODROW WILSON LOSES HIS GRIP

In New Mexico the Republicans Have Elected a Majority of Legislature and Will Get Two U. S. Senators.

Elections held yesterday in many states and cities throughout the country show varying results without any indication of a widespread wave of public sentiment. In Massachusetts Governor Foss, democrat, claims reelection by a reduced plurality of about 12,000, but his election is not conceded and the result is still in doubt and will be so until practically all complete returns are received. New York state elected a republican assembly, thus depriving Governor Dix, democrat, of the support he had hitherto received in both branches of the legislature. The present assembly has a democratic majority of 24. The new one will have a republican majority of upwards of 30. In New York City Tammany's strength is materially reduced. Its candidates for judicial and county offices are elected by greatly reduced pluralities.

In Brooklyn the fusion judicial and county candidates were successful with perhaps one exception. A democratic congressman was elected in the Second Kansas district to fill the place of Representative Mitchell, republican, deceased. In Kentucky James B. McCreery, democrat, is elected governor by a large majority. A democratic legislature also is assured, which assures the choice of Congressman Ollie James as United States senator. The first election held in the new state of New Mexico is still in doubt. Both democratic and republican candidates are claiming the victory on meager returns. Indications point to a republican legislature, which will elect United States senators. New Jersey elected a legislature which will continue to support Governor Woodrow Wilson, democrat, but the legislative majorities are still in doubt. Early returns from the state election in Maryland are inconclusive as between Arthur P. Gorman, democrat, and Philip L. Goldsborough, republican. Mississippi elected a democratic governor and legislature by large majorities. Early returns from Rhode Island indicate it has re-elected Governor Pothier, republican, over Louis A. Waterman, democrat, by increased majorities.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—The difficulties likely to be encountered in the administration of the proposed workmen's compensation law were emphasized today when President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, took issue with members of the employers' liability and workmen's compensation commission regarding the awarding of a trial to be created. In the main he endorsed the commission's plan for insuring railroad employees against accident but when he took up the question of administration he advanced the theory that did not meet the approval of some members of the commission. He insisted that the tribunal consist of three members, one representing the employees, one the employers and the third to be a physician of standing chosen by the other two. The commission has not formulated a provision governing this important part of the law but Senator Sutherland and Representative Moon indicate a leaning toward the selection of award boards by the federal courts. Sutherland pointed out the Gompers plan would be in effect a system of arbitration and said the third man on the board would be the arbitrator, while the other two would be merely attorneys for the opposing sides.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—The difficulties likely to be encountered in the administration of the proposed workmen's compensation law were emphasized today when President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, took issue with members of the employers' liability and workmen's compensation commission regarding the awarding of a trial to be created. In the main he endorsed the commission's plan for insuring railroad employees against accident but when he took up the question of administration he advanced the theory that did not meet the approval of some members of the commission. He insisted that the tribunal consist of three members, one representing the employees, one the employers and the third to be a physician of standing chosen by the other two. The commission has not formulated a provision governing this important part of the law but Senator Sutherland and Representative Moon indicate a leaning toward the selection of award boards by the federal courts. Sutherland pointed out the Gompers plan would be in effect a system of arbitration and said the third man on the board would be the arbitrator, while the other two would be merely attorneys for the opposing sides.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—The difficulties likely to be encountered in the administration of the proposed workmen's compensation law were emphasized today when President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, took issue with members of the employers' liability and workmen's compensation commission regarding the awarding of a trial to be created. In the main he endorsed the commission's plan for insuring railroad employees against accident but when he took up the question of administration he advanced the theory that did not meet the approval of some members of the commission. He insisted that the tribunal consist of three members, one representing the employees, one the employers and the third to be a physician of standing chosen by the other two. The commission has not formulated a provision governing this important part of the law but Senator Sutherland and Representative Moon indicate a leaning toward the selection of award boards by the federal courts. Sutherland pointed out the Gompers plan would be in effect a system of arbitration and said the third man on the board would be the arbitrator, while the other two would be merely attorneys for the opposing sides.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—The difficulties likely to be encountered in the administration of the proposed workmen's compensation law were emphasized today when President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, took issue with members of the employers' liability and workmen's compensation commission regarding the awarding of a trial to be created. In the main he endorsed the commission's plan for insuring railroad employees against accident but when he took up the question of administration he advanced the theory that did not meet the approval of some members of the commission. He insisted that the tribunal consist of three members, one representing the employees, one the employers and the third to be a physician of standing chosen by the other two. The commission has not formulated a provision governing this important part of the law but Senator Sutherland and Representative Moon indicate a leaning toward the selection of award boards by the federal courts. Sutherland pointed out the Gompers plan would be in effect a system of arbitration and said the third man on the board would be the arbitrator, while the other two would be merely attorneys for the opposing sides.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—The difficulties likely to be encountered in the administration of the proposed workmen's compensation law were emphasized today when President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, took issue with members of the employers' liability and workmen's compensation commission regarding the awarding of a trial to be created. In the main he endorsed the commission's plan for insuring railroad employees against accident but when he took up the question of administration he advanced the theory that did not meet the approval of some members of the commission. He insisted that the tribunal consist of three members, one representing the employees, one the employers and the third to be a physician of standing chosen by the other two. The commission has not formulated a provision governing this important part of the law but Senator Sutherland and Representative Moon indicate a leaning toward the selection of award boards by the federal courts. Sutherland pointed out the Gompers plan would be in effect a system of arbitration and said the third man on the board would be the arbitrator, while the other two would be merely attorneys for the opposing sides.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—The difficulties likely to be encountered in the administration of the proposed workmen's compensation law were emphasized today when President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, took issue with members of the employers' liability and workmen's compensation commission regarding the awarding of a trial to be created. In the main he endorsed the commission's plan for insuring railroad employees against accident but when he took up the question of administration he advanced the theory that did not meet the approval of some members of the commission. He insisted that the tribunal consist of three members, one representing the employees, one the employers and the third to be a physician of standing chosen by the other two. The commission has not formulated a provision governing this important part of the law but Senator Sutherland and Representative Moon indicate a leaning toward the selection of award boards by the federal courts. Sutherland pointed out the Gompers plan would be in effect a system of arbitration and said the third man on the board would be the arbitrator, while the other two would be merely attorneys for the opposing sides.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—The difficulties likely to be encountered in the administration of the proposed workmen's compensation law were emphasized today when President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, took issue with members of the employers' liability and workmen's compensation commission regarding the awarding of a trial to be created. In the main he endorsed the commission's plan for insuring railroad employees against accident but when he took up the question of administration he advanced the theory that did not meet the approval of some members of the commission. He insisted that the tribunal consist of three members, one representing the employees, one the employers and the third to be a physician of standing chosen by the other two. The commission has not formulated a provision governing this important part of the law but Senator Sutherland and Representative Moon indicate a leaning toward the selection of award boards by the federal courts. Sutherland pointed out the Gompers plan would be in effect a system of arbitration and said the third man on the board would be the arbitrator, while the other two would be merely attorneys for the opposing sides.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—The difficulties likely to be encountered in the administration of the proposed workmen's compensation law were emphasized today when President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, took issue with members of the employers' liability and workmen's compensation commission regarding the awarding of a trial to be created. In the main he endorsed the commission's plan for insuring railroad employees against accident but when he took up the question of administration he advanced the theory that did not meet the approval of some members of the commission. He insisted that the tribunal consist of three members, one representing the employees, one the employers and the third to be a physician of standing chosen by the other two. The commission has not formulated a provision governing this important part of the law but Senator Sutherland and Representative Moon indicate a leaning toward the selection of award boards by the federal courts. Sutherland pointed out the Gompers plan would be in effect a system of arbitration and said the third man on the board would be the arbitrator, while the other two would be merely attorneys for the opposing sides.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—The difficulties likely to be encountered in the administration of the proposed workmen's compensation law were emphasized today when President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, took issue with members of the employers' liability and workmen's compensation commission regarding the awarding of a trial to be created. In the main he endorsed the commission's plan for insuring railroad employees against accident but when he took up the question of administration he advanced the theory that did not meet the approval of some members of the commission. He insisted that the tribunal consist of three members, one representing the employees, one the employers and the third to be a physician of standing chosen by the other two. The commission has not formulated a provision governing this important part of the law but Senator Sutherland and Representative Moon indicate a leaning toward the selection of award boards by the federal courts. Sutherland pointed out the Gompers plan would be in effect a system of arbitration and said the third man on the board would be the arbitrator, while the other two would be merely attorneys for the opposing sides.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—The difficulties likely to be encountered in the administration of the proposed workmen's compensation law were emphasized today when President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, took issue with members of the employers' liability and workmen's compensation commission regarding the awarding of a trial to be created. In the main he endorsed the commission's plan for insuring railroad employees against accident but when he took up the question of administration he advanced the theory that did not meet the approval of some members of the commission. He insisted that the tribunal consist of three members, one representing the employees, one the employers and the third to be a physician of standing chosen by the other two. The commission has not formulated a provision governing this important part of the law but Senator Sutherland and Representative Moon indicate a leaning toward the selection of award boards by the federal courts. Sutherland pointed out the Gompers plan would be in effect a system of arbitration and said the third man on the board would be the arbitrator, while the other two would be merely attorneys for the opposing sides.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—The difficulties likely to be encountered in the administration of the proposed workmen's compensation law were emphasized today when President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, took issue with members of the employers' liability and workmen's compensation commission regarding the awarding of a trial to be created. In the main he endorsed the commission's plan for insuring railroad employees against accident but when he took up the question of administration he advanced the theory that did not meet the approval of some members of the commission. He insisted that the tribunal consist of three members, one representing the employees, one the employers and the third to be a physician of standing chosen by the other two. The commission has not formulated a provision governing this important part of the law but Senator Sutherland and Representative Moon indicate a leaning toward the selection of award boards by the federal courts. Sutherland pointed out the Gompers plan would be in effect a system of arbitration and said the third man on the board would be the arbitrator, while the other two would be merely attorneys for the opposing sides.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—The difficulties likely to be encountered in the administration of the proposed workmen's compensation law were emphasized today when President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, took issue with members of the employers' liability and workmen's compensation commission regarding the awarding of a trial to be created. In the main he endorsed the commission's plan for insuring railroad employees against accident but when he took up the question of administration he advanced the theory that did not meet the approval of some members of the commission. He insisted that the tribunal consist of three members, one representing the employees, one the employers and the third to be a physician of standing chosen by the other two. The commission has not formulated a provision governing this important part of the law but Senator Sutherland and Representative Moon indicate a leaning toward the selection of award boards by the federal courts. Sutherland pointed out the Gompers plan would be in effect a system of arbitration and said the third man on the board would be the arbitrator, while the other two would be merely attorneys for the opposing sides.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—The difficulties likely to be encountered in the administration of the proposed workmen's compensation law were emphasized today when President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, took issue with members of the employers' liability and workmen's compensation commission regarding the awarding of a trial to be created. In the main he endorsed the commission's plan for insuring railroad employees